Greenfield Fire District completes new round of website modifications aimed at streamlining transparency to community residents.

GREENFIELD CENTER, NY – the Greenfield Fire District (GFD) has completed a new round of website modifications aimed at increasing accessibility to district documents. The district launched its website: www.greenfieldfd.org back in June of this year.

“We have received a lot of positive comments since we released the website, and we have incorporated some of this feedback into these modifications,” explained Commissioner Richard Spackmann, who chairs the website initiative. “We focused on redesigning the document section, where the public can download district information such as the district budget, press releases and meeting minutes.”

The document download page now features a redesigned interface which lists documents in each category sorted by date. The newest document is listed at the top of the list. There is also an archive section for each document category, where visitors can look through every document posted in that category. “This allows users to find documents that were posted back in June much easier,” explained Spackmann.

The latest round of modifications was performed by MwhDesigns, the same company who constructed the website. All of this work was paid for through a generous donation from the Adirondack Trust Company. “This was actually a grant that we received from Adirondack Trust as part of the Walmart Challenge back in 2006,” stated Spackmann. “We are very grateful for Adirondack Trust’s support.”

Additional modifications are planned for 2008 which include alterations to the photo gallery and news page. “Its important to note that the website is an on-going process, we continuously update it and we will continuously maintain it – improving our service to the community.”
